

Sidney air cadets best in province

Air cadets of Sidney squadron 676 have won the top rating in British Columbia for 1982, on their 25th anniversary. They earned overall marks of 98 per cent, defeating 41 other squadrons in the Pacific region.

A major part of the score is based on their performance at the annual parade in May, but they also had first place marks for their trumpet band, their drum major and their rifle team in provincial competitions during the spring.

Drum Major Wilf Seymour and the trumpet band were victors at the Strathcona Band Competition held at Work Point Barracks at Victoria. The rifle team placed first in the B.C. finals and second in the national finals.

Col. J.R. Chisholm, base commander at Comox, who was inspecting officer at the annual parade, May 29, rated the squadron's performance "one of the best Air Cadet parades which I have seen over the past couple of years."

Squadron 676 took top honours in B.C. five years straight from 1970 to 1974, and was also best in Canada in 1974, but had not won since. National winner for this year has not been announced. As provincial winner the squadron is definitely in the running.

Squadron Warrant Officer Gwen Rowley was in command during the parade, with Flight Sergeants Dean Freidt and Rhonda Saunders leading the two flights and Drum Major Seymour leading the band.

Major Phil Perry is commanding officer of the squadron. Others on the staff are captains Don Norrie and Fred Upton, lieutenants Frederick Barry, Tony Pasolli and Stephen Smith, officer cadet Michael Seymour, and civilian instructors William Chatterton, Ted England, Sandy Peden, Eric Lewis, Susan Pasoli, Stephen Paton, Sandra Smith and Jim Vissers.

There are 74 cadets in the squadron, which is sponsored by the Victoria Kinsmen's Club. Recruiting for the coming year will take place on Sept. 16.

Two of winning elements for Sidney air cadets this year were trumpet band led by Drum Major Wilf Seymour, (below), and rifle team coached by Sandy Peden, posing (above) in front of tank at Chilliwack armed forces base.

Parkland student among top twenty

Steven Rogak, who graduated from Parkland senior secondary school this spring, has won a $2,000 scholarship as one of the top 20 students in British Columbia.

Son of Helen and Earl Rogak, 618 Lands End Rd., he has been educated entirely at Saanich district schools, attending Deep Cove elementary and North Saanich middle school before going to Parklands.

Scholarships are awarded on the basis of marks in three provincial examinations in subjects chosen by the student, plus an English composition paper. Rogak wrote exams in four subjects, physics, chemistry, biology and algebra, and got high marks in all four.

The education ministry does not announce exact percentages scored by the candidates, but Rogak's marks were in the top four per cent in all his subjects.

Winner of the Governor-General's medals in B.C. were Daniel Treisman, of Prince of Wales secondary in Vancouver, with 94.65 per cent, and Samir Shah, of North Delta senior secondary with 94.49 per cent.

The other 18 scholarship winners, including Rogak, all got more than 86.9 per cent. One was from Esquimalt, one from Terrace, one from Nanaimo, one from Salmon Arm and the rest from the greater Vancouver area. Four were from private schools.

Five other Parkland students who wrote the exams qualified for $1,000 scholarships, including Brian Carmichael, winner of the school's 1982 award for academic excellence, and Claire Davey, Tracey Curton, Lawrence Kubek and Jeffrey Wright.

Rogak won the Parklands' award as the outstanding student in grade 12 mathematics and also a metalwork award.

Principal Tom Brown describes him as an "all-rounder", pointing out that besides having won numerous academic awards in his school career he was also a founding member of the cycling club and a top-notch cyclist, and also helped with coaching, plus being a standout on the senior boys' soccer team and helping to coach senior girls' soccer.

This fall he will be attending the University of B.C., and plans to earn an engineering degree in four years, having completed the qualifications for an accelerated program by taking first year calculus at summer school this year at the University of Victoria.

He won't have to decide for another year what branch of the profession to follow, but expects it will be mechanical engineering.

Chamber approves election this month

Members of the Saanich Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, meeting at Sidney Travelodge Thursday evening, unanimously approved a new constitution and construction of a new office.

Major change in the constitution will see the annual election in September instead of the end of the year. This year's election will be held Sept. 23.

The new office will be in a 20 by 20-foot extension on the north end of the information booth at John Road beside the Pat Bay Highway. It is hoped to have it completed by Nov. 1.

The highways department has given its blessing for the expansion, and by having the office there the chamber will be able to keep the information booth operating the year round instead of only in the busy season.

It is also felt that the location will reduce the tendency for the chamber to be identified only with Sidney, when it now represents Central Saanich as well as Sidney and North Saanich.

Officials of the Greater Victoria Visitors Information Centre, which helps finance the tourist booth, are reported to be very pleased with the change.

Past president Hank Vissers heads the nominating committee for the annual meeting, and is reported to have about 40 names of members willing to hold office, including several Brentwood businessmen. This is in sharp contrast to the situation a year ago, when few were interested in serving.

The chamber is presently making plans for extensive participation in Small Business Week, Oct. 24 to 30, which is sponsored by chambers across Canada in conjunction with the Federal Business Development Bank.

Plans call for a "shopping spree" at Keating, Brentwood and Sidney, to bring to the attention of the public the importance of small businesses to the economy.

Representatives of the bank will be on hand at several locations to outline the bank's services and to offer counselling for those interested.

Office closed Monday

The Review office will be closed Monday in celebration of Labour Day. Deadline for classified advertising for our Sept. 8 edition is 5 p.m. Friday, deadline for display advertising and editorial material is noon Saturday.

Jenifer Lindsay wins second world crown

Jenifer Lindsay has again won a world championship in highland dancing competition at the Cowal Highland Gathering in Dunoon, Scotland.

Expected to arrive home in Sidney after press time on Monday, Jenifer had phoned her teacher, Adeline Duncan, from Scotland to say that she had repeated her victory in the "senior" (16 to 18) class. Next year she will have to compete as an adult.

Last month she took six firsts at the Chicago Highland Games, and today she leaves for Santa Rosa, California, where the U.S. championships will be decided at the Santa Rosa Highland games.

Old and New store gets federal grant

A $19,475 grant under the federal New Horizons program will finance a new phase of the Peninsula Old and New store in Sidney, providing an outlet for expanded sale of handicrafts made by senior citizens and disabled people of any age.

The organization which operates the store, under the Peninsula Community Association umbrella, is called the Peninsula Old and New (New Horizons) Group, and has a majority of senior citizen members.

The age of the members, plus inclusion of "New Horizons" in the name, qualified the group to apply for assistance under the program. This was done some months ago, but in the meantime they went ahead with opening the store, with seed money from the Victoria Foundation plus $500 borrowed from the PCA and later repaid.

The grant, which was announced Monday, is the full amount applied for, and will cover rent and one part-time salary for an 18-month period, plus a number of other expenses such as telephone and water, and purchase of items of furniture, fixtures and equipment, including a cash register. It will also pay for some craft materials and for rent for space outside the store where seniors and handicapped persons interested in the program can get together.

The store, at 9781 Second St., has been open since July 19, selling mainly second-hand items, many repaired by volunteer workers. It has been a success in spite of being closed for a week because of a fire, suspected of having been deliberately set, three days after it opened. Insurance covered the loss.

New Horizons grants are designed to encourage seniors to become active in the community again.

Scores of volunteers have contributed their efforts already, both working in the store and preparing the merchandise at home. Handicrafts are sold on consignment, with the store retaining 30 per cent of the price.

Any profits will go to help finance the wide range of services offered by the PCA, which is expecting some reduction in funding formerly received from the provincial government.

Montana family of nine got out just before rented motor home burst into flames at Pat Bay Highway and McTavish on Saturday afternoon. Sidney firemen had trouble extinguishing gas-fed blaze.

Buoys problem for committee

North Saanich committee wrestled Monday night with the problem of approving 13 applications for mooring buoys in Deep Cove but tabled the matter pending gathering of more information.

Committee A chairman Alan Cornford pointed out to a small delegation that the implications for the rest of the municipality's waterfront residents wanting to apply for moorings throughout the whole peninsula are "tremendous".

He went on to say that the applications had merit but would have to be looked at very closely.

He also explained that provision must be made for general public access and that the question of safe navigation without encroachment had to be looked at.

Handicapped bus to peninsula may be stopped

There's a service for the handicapped available on the peninsula that isn't being used, and unless more interest is uncovered at a public meeting next Thursday it may be discontinued.

Metro Transit has six small busses equipped to carry four people in wheelchairs, plus four without chairs, and these will provide door-to-door taxi service for people unable to use normal busses.

Called HandyDart, the service is part of the regional public transit system and is available to the entire Capital Regional District. In Greater Victoria during the past three years 2,400 people have registered to use HandyDart, and the vehicles are constantly on the run.

Extension of the service as far as Sidney was begun three months ago, and on the inaugural run four people in wheelchairs were taken shopping at the Tillicum mall. Since then there has been a bus made available from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on the third Monday of every month, to take people to and from Victoria or anywhere they would like to go on the peninsula, but it has never been used.

HandyDart officials are sure that there are people on the peninsula who do need the service, since volunteer drivers can't take people who can't get in and out of their wheelchairs, and the Lions Club Easter Seal busses are just for crippled children.

If the demand were there a bus could be made available as much as three days a week. Fare is only $1.25 for a trip within the transit zone, and cost of going all the way to Victoria is only $2.75.

Priority goes to trips for work, education and medical needs, in that order, but the service is available for shopping, hospital visiting, or just plain visiting, as well.

Anyone who requires the service or who has a friend or relative who does is urged to attend the meeting at the new Resthaven Lodge, 2281 Mills Rd., Sidney, from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 9.

WCC Leader at Sidney

Hundred hear Christie

Western Canada Concept leader Doug Christie introduced himself as a somewhat reluctant separatist when he spoke to just over 100 people at a meeting at the Sidney Knights of Pythias Hall on Aug. 25.

He began his speech by saying that as recently as 1975 he used to think that "someone else would save us — the Socreds, Peter Lougheed" from domination and exploitation by eastern Canada.

Now, he said, a new party had been built "that has no support from big business or big unions," that offers "an alternative to political corruption in B.C.," and that "will give people a referendum on the most fundamental issues — how we govern ourselves."

Equalization payments have taken $60 billion from B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan in the past five years, he claimed.

"Who among us got the right to choose on equalization? Or bilingualism? Or the constitution?"

Later, when asked whether the WCC supported separation, he said that would be up to the people to decide in a referendum and that the right of a province to vote on separation had been established by the precedent in Quebec.

"If you're satisfied with domination from eastern Canada, we're the first party to offer you a chance to vote for it."

In answering another question he outlined the way in which regional interests are protected by the U.S. Senate, a body with as much power as the House of Representatives, but with the same number of senators from the smallest state as from the most populous.

"If we could build that balance into Canada, separation would not be necessary," he said.

Christie referred to his party's pledge to introduce the system of initiative, referendum and recall used in many U.S. states.

Recall means accountability, he said, "so we're not just saying 'Trust me!' You won't get that from the Socreds or the NDP."

Of the Socreds, Christie commented, "You couldn't elect Liberals in B.C. because of what they have done in the past, so they run a Trojan horse called Social Credit, and inside of that they have the Liberal party."

He pictured an independent Western Canada as having a cost of living reduced 30 to 50 per cent by free trade without the loss of any B.C. jobs.

It would have the resources and the money to pay of a per-capita share of the present national debt, and there should be no concern about its ability to pay all pensions.

"What people should be frightened of is the bankruptcy of the Canadian government."

There would be more dedication to national defence than there is now because people would be proud of their country.

"The country they (veterans) fought for is being decimated from within."

Trevor Davis suggested the objectives of the WCC were good but that a lot of people were afraid of the idea of separation and the party should talk about it only as a last resort if the real objectives of good government and prosperity were not realized.

"How many of you are frightened by the idea of Western Independence?" Christie asked the audience. No one reacted.

Earlier there had been applause when Christie said, "I want to be proud and free, a Western Canadian."

Ferry fare books excellent plan

The B.C. Ferry Corp. undoubtedly has picked a winner with its pre-sold discount fare plan. The advantages are so obvious that it's hard to believe it has taken 20 years for someone to put the idea into effect.

People who have to use the ferry often will greatly appreciate both the $2-a-trip saving and the convenience of not having to line up and buy a ticket each time they travel.

If the ferry corporation in the meantime is making enough money to come out ahead, through investing the funds paid in advance and through tickets that are lost or otherwise never used, then everyone comes out ahead.

Even those who don't use the ferry very often may find the no-time-limit ticket books an attractive buy, since each one will provide complete immunity from fare increases for the next half dozen round trips.

Those are the advantages without even considering the assured-loading aspect of the ticket books — but perhaps that is a consideration that should be reconsidered.

All of us would dearly love to be able to delay our arrival at the terminal until just a few minutes before sailing time, knowing that we would get on regardless of lineups — but all of us would bitterly regret being left behind after a wait because a bunch of johnny-come-latelies were loaded ahead of us.

And we would resent it with a special keenness, knowing that the preferred travellers were not paying an extra fare for privileged treatment, but a cheaper one.

One of the things that helps make long waits for ferries tolerable is the fact that the loading teams are scrupulously careful to see that those who arrive first are loaded first, with no one crashing the line.

This new system could change the whole psychology of the situation leaving drivers who would formerly have been sure of getting aboard wondering until the last minute whether they are going to be bumped to a later sailing because of a rush of ticket holders.

In the off-season, when missing a ferry means a two-hour wait, a person suffering that indignity could work up a good head of steam — enough to make a tourist vow never to come back to the island, or a local resident decide to vote against the government.

So we have our doubts about that part of the plan, but we're delighted with the rest.

Wage guidelines hardly voluntary

For the benefit of those who are confused about the provincial government's Compensation Stabilization Program, there is now a tidy little brochure available that helps to make things clear.

One of the things it makes clear is that part of the program is doubletalk.

Under the program and its most recent regulations all employees of the provincial government, Crown corporations, hospitals, schools and municipalities will have limits imposed on their compensation increases for at least a two year period.

For the first year the regulations limit compensation increases to six per cent; plus up to two per cent more if through recent "compensation experience" they have fallen behind a "similar group;" plus up to another two percent if productivity improvements warrant it and the provincial economy can afford it.

(This would seem to give the B.C. Government Employees Union a clear case for an eight per cent raise without any increase in productivity, whereas they are offered six and a half per cent with a requirement of increased productivity.)

The six per cent basic limit can also be reduced by three per cent if recent "compensation experience" has moved the employees involved ahead of a "similar group", and three per cent if productivity is reduced and/or the provincial economy can't afford more.

That much of the program is clear enough, if a bit complex, but it is only half the story. The other half is that besides the regulations there are "guidelines", which now contain only one figure, an overall limit of 10 per cent.

Operating under the guidelines, employer and employees are supposed to bargain in the normal way, and then submit the agreement arrived at to examination by the "Compensation Stabilization Commission."

"The Commissioner will determine if increases are within the voluntary Guidelines. If they are not, the Commissioner will require the parties to revise their plan and bring it within the Guidelines."

"If their plan is still not within the Guidelines, the Commissioner can order that their plan be put under the Regulations and this may result in a rollback of wages."

It is perfectly clear, then, that except for the 10 per cent limit there is precious little to the guidelines, and they are by no means "voluntary."

They are just a bit of political camouflage which in a time of restraint the taxpayers could well do without.

A taste of things to come. Late summer storm sees good Samaritan adding an extra fender to protect sailboat pounding against outer float of Beacon Avenue wharf.

The flower day held Aug. 22 at the Dominion Experimental Farm was a success in every respect. Mr. E.M. Straight was in charge of the program, which was carried out in a most satisfactory manner.

Great excitement prevailed in Sidney last Wednesday when ten of Vancouver Island Coach Lines' large buses appeared in Sidney. The coaches lined up for two blocks from the Sidney Hotel just as the S.S. Princess Patricia, carrying passengers on a "Mystery Cruise" from Vancouver docked at Sidney wharf.

Alexander McDonald, well known resident of the North Saanich district, was chosen at the Liberal convention at Ganges on Monday as their candidate to contest The Islands constituency in the coming provincial election.

Of great interest to all residents of North Saanich will be the announcement of the opening of the Rex Theatre on Fourth Street by S.V. Henn and D.G. Lumley. For many months work has been going on in the big structure, the building and entirely remodelled inside.

A government advertisement gave details of new ration books, valid as of Sept. 7, allowing a half pound of sugar and an ounce of tea or four ounces of coffee a week. There were three spare series of coupons in the book for commodities that might be rationed during the six months the books were in effect.

30 YEARS AGO
From the Sept. 3, 1952, issue of The Review

First "Kaa-Ka-Thut" or Indian festival staged in North Saanich for more than two decades attracted a crowd estimated at well over 2,000 persons to The Chalet grounds at Deep Cove on Saturday afternoon.

A rural route operating six days a week will shortly be inaugurated from the Brentwood Bay post office. The route will be approximately 8.8 miles in length and will be taken from the Saanich rural route which is at present 39.1 miles long.

20 YEARS AGO
From the Aug. 29, 1962 issue of The Review

Department of Highways is steeped in history, as evidenced by the new signpost on Beacon Ave. at Patricia Bay Highway. Passing motorists are invited to travel into Sidney to take the Steveston ferry. It is nearly a decade since the Steveston ferry was terminated.

Crows in the Brentwood area should stay undercover for the next several weeks, as the Central Saanich Police Department and two other appointed persons will be gunning for them. Some of the birds will be shot following numerous complaints that they are becoming pests in large numbers.

10 YEARS AGO
From the Aug. 30, 1972 issue of The Review

Beacon Ave. merchants are once again faced with the question of a change from angle to parallel parking prompted by a suggestion from Highways Dept. engineers studying the reconstruction of upper Beacon.

The urgent matter of a public comfort station near Beacon Ave. wharf will be further considered by Sidney council although the suggested site near Sidney Museum is felt to be too small.

'Dominion Day' submissions sought

Word has just reached me that, unlike other Parliamentary Committees examining issues of nation-wide interest and concern, the Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs will NOT be placing advertisements in newspapers in order to solicit the views of the Canadian Public on Bill C-201, the Private Member's Bill seeking to change the name of DOMINION DAY to Canada Day. I have learned, however, that "hearings" on the Bill are to be held in Ottawa on October 13, 14 and 15, 1982, and that written briefs or representations must be in the hands of the Committee by September 20.

Anyone wishing to present a brief should send it to:

Hon. Joan Neiman, Acting Chairman, (no stamp needed), Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs, Senate of Canada, Ottawa, K1A 0A6. Attn: Paul Belisle (Clerk of Committee).

I intend to make written representation, and am also asking that my name be placed on the list of those wishing to appear in person.

The Committee, as far as I can see, feels that tradition, history and the written word are not of sufficient importance to warrant the expenditure of funds to hear what Canadians have to say on such a matter.

If you have friends across Canada, urge them to make representation to the Committee, and to their local papers. I would be glad to receive copies of such representations, also. (no stamp required).

It has been my experience that the Government is much more responsive to a massive campaign of representations by individuals than to briefs presented on behalf of a group. I urge you, therefore, if you want to make an impact, not to delay writing to Senator Neiman.

Volunteer workers at museum praised

I have recently completed my second summer as director/curator of the Sidney Museum and would like to take this opportunity to thank my dedicated and capable staff of volunteer workers.

Volunteers rarely receive the praise which is due to them for giving freely of their time and labour. Without such competent help, the museum would not have been able to run its education programme for elementary school children, win the trophy for best overall theme for the second year running in the Sidney Days Parade or complete many of the projects undertaken this summer.

The volunteers are ambassadors for Sidney, meeting visitors from all parts of the globe. Their friendly smiles and eager attitudes have helped many visitors to learn something of Sidney's history as well as directing people to local services and attractions.

During the past two summers, these people have shown me that community spirit still exists in Sidney, in so many places. I hope this spirit will remain as the town continues to expand. It should be remembered that the Town of Sidney was born and nurtured on community spirit and although growth and the accompanying change is inevitable, it is this same spirit which will help preserve Sidney's rich and varied past for future generations to enjoy.

To all the museum volunteers and to the many businesses and residents of the area who have donated time, labour, materials, services or artifacts for our collection, a heartfelt thanks to you all for providing me with a unique and valuable experience and a museum full of memories.

Sidney has much to be proud of. Keep up the good work.

Socreds to blame for inconvenience

Your Obvious Lessons editorial (Aug. 25) raised some interesting points.

You are, of course, perfectly correct in stating the BCGEU is receiving deliberately unfair treatment at the hands of the Socreds. They are indeed desperate for an election issue, and seek to make us a scapegoat for their own partisan gain.

You are less clear in discussing strike tactics. When you bargain with a government that is motivated solely by ulterior, political motives, what do you do? We've tried rational negotiation and logic, and even requested public bargaining. All approaches have failed. Arbitration? The Socreds Compensation-Interferes with that.

The public would do well to direct their indignation at the Government, where it properly belongs. By manipulating the BCGEU into striking, the Socreds manipulate everyone who is inconvenienced. The Socred restraint program really adds up to moral bankruptcy.

World fame beckons for Stumpy Seagull

The fame of Stumpy the one-legged seagull and his friends Jim and Doris Waddell of Sidney may soon be spread continent wide and even world wide.

Neither is yet confirmed, but the U.S. TV program "That's Incredible" has enquired about presenting the story on network television, and the Victoria S.P.C.A. has written to the publishers of the Guinness Book of Records claiming for Stumpy recognition as the world's longest-lived glaucous-winged gull.

Locally, the Wildlife Review, published by the ministry of environment in Victoria, tells Stumpy's story in an article about the glaucous-winged gulls, which have their centre of world abundance in this province.

The Waddells were living in Victoria at 511 Frances Street when Stumpy came into their lives 27 years ago. He was with a flock of hungry seagulls looking for food and Waddell noticed the gull with an injured leg was having trouble getting enough to eat. Gradually, Stumpy, was taught by the Waddells to fly over to the garage roof where Jim would climb up on the coal shed and feed him bits of herring.

The seagull returned every day, so that feeding Stumpy his breakfast, became a firmly entrenched part of the Waddell's daily routine. Seagulls eat about a pound of herring a day and getting enough herring to keep Stumpy in good health was sometimes a problem.

For the past four years herring for Stumpy has been obtained from Salt Spring Island Industries, in 25-pound lots. Last week Jim got the remains of some herring strips being cut up for bait. The fish is always provided, one way or another.

Only in the early spring, for two or three weeks during the mating season, does Stumpy fail to appear. Before that he stuffs himself up, so the Waddells can tell he is getting ready to take off for a time. Then he is back, often accompanied by his mate and sometimes a mottled chick, which is allowed to share in the herring breakfast Jim provides.

Last July, Wayne Campbell, biologist from the British Columbia Museum, verified that Stumpy was the oldest glaucous-winged seagull on record. A letter was sent by the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to the Guinness Superlatives Limited, with documentation to show that Stumpy was the oldest of his species known, and also to point out that it was a record for one man, feeding the same seagull, continuously every day for 27 years.

On February 8, 1980 the S.P.C.A. presented Jim Waddell with the Award of Merit, a certificate in recognition of outstanding service.

The Waddells moved to 9523 Maryland, in Sidney in January, 1973, and they drive to Victoria every morning at 9 o'clock, rain or shine, with herring for Stumpy. He waits for them on the clock at the business premises across the street, or on the lamp standard nearby, and recognizes the car when they arrive. Jim had to buy a new vehicle a few years ago but Stumpy was soon able to spot his new grey Oldsmobile, even though it was a different colour from his former car.

A member of Sidney Masonic Lodge, No. 143, Jim is especially proud of the tribute which he received in the Masonic Bulletin of April 1979. The page-long story tells of the 25 years of meal service provided to the lame seagull.

Jim Waddell has had open heart surgery, and is presently undergoing further treatment. When he can't make the daily trek to Victoria, his wife looks after their adopted seagull. She is not able to drive a car but her sister Phyllis Leathers, who lives next door, does the driving. Quietly cheerful, despite his health problems, Jim said "Stumpy really keeps me going these days, I wouldn't want to let him down."

TEACHING EXCELLENCE

Roy's Photography

Twelve of MR. GARY LAIDLAW'S Grade 12 physics students at SMU — one third of his class — recently wrote and passed the challenging Advanced Placement exams set by the U.S. College Boards. The AP exams assess whether students are ready to enter second year courses in university. Five of Mr. Laidlaw's students "qualified" with a 3 out of 5 score; five earned a "well qualified" rating, with scores of 4 out of 5; two earned an "extremely well qualified" rating of 5 out of 5.

Mr. Laidlaw, who holds an honours degree in physics, did post-graduate research at the University of Manitoba where, as an undergraduate, he presented three papers to the American Association of Physicists.

Mr. Laidlaw, a born teacher, (great teachers tend to be born, not made), spends uncounted after-school hours working with his pupils on computers and is also active in SMU's outdoor programme.

Leader may contest Saanich

The people who turned out to hear Western Canada Concept leader Doug Christie in Sidney last Wednesday evening may have been given a preview of the coming provincial election campaign.

There was talk at the meeting that Christie might choose to contest Saanich and the Islands, and he confirmed later that he is considering this seat among others.

The WCC has already nominated a nurse, Allison Umpherson, as one candidate in the two-seat Victoria riding, and has a nomination meeting for Saanich and the Islands scheduled for Stelly's School on Sept. 15.

Riding president Del Dreger said Thursday, however, that there would not necessarily be a candidate chosen at the Sept. 15 meeting.

Parkland Parade

By WENDY LAING

In the world of students, the two precious months that have just sped by were most likely used to their potential. For me the summer was spent working, vacationing and occasionally relaxing.

Now, as the doors to September open today, 820 Parkland Panthers will be ready themselves for another industrious year.

The activities of our 1982-83 Student Council have certainly not been at a standstill during the summer months. Organizational meetings have taken place, student-card discounts have been obtained from Sidney stores and the wheels to our largest venture, a school supply store, are now turning.

In the latter part of July, Student Council executives travelled to each Sidney merchant in hopes of obtaining percentage discounts for Parkland studentcard holders. The turn-out was impressive and on behalf of the Student Council, I would like to thank those businesses who supported our school.

The scheme is in an effort to promote our student-cards. The discounts will provide an incentive for all students to purchase a card. These cards are extremely important to the Student Council, as club grants and all activities are dependant on the proceeds.

The merchants, in return for their discounts, will receive free advertising within our school in the form of large posters that will decorate the halls during the school year.

Using other schools as prime examples, the council has decided to open a school store selling stationery, notebooks, and pens, pencils etc. After careful thought and permission by our principal we have chosen this project as a profitable endeavour.

The store officially opened during pre-registration, Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. It will also be open Sept. 2 and 3 from 12 p.m., and will continue to operate all year-round.

Our prices are at a competitive level and, most important of all, funds will stay within Parkland Secondary and thus be used for Student Council activities.

The store is to be located in the Grassroot's ticket-booth, at the top of the multi-purpose room

Instant roadblock halts stolen car

Fast action in setting up a roadblock enabled Sidney RCMP to recover a stolen car a McTavish Road and the Pat Bay Highway at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 24, and arrest the driver.

When police made a routine check on the vehicle at Beacon and Fourth the driver sped off, with the RCMP cruiser in pursuit.

By the time the chase reached McTavish another officer had his car blocking part of the highway, while cars stopped at the intersection blocked the rest. The fleeing driver tried to slow down and turn onto the approach lane to McTavish, but his car spun and went into the intersection. A lady driver stopped on McTavish managed to get her car out of the way just in time to avoid a collision.

Police have arrested Tod Kurik, 20, of Victoria.

Joe Kubinec of Harvey's Sporting Goods was quickly hustled off diamond by playing coach, Dick Michaud, to end argument with base umpire Al Moore during Sidney Men's Fastball final Friday night.

Harvey's edge Hotel in final

By TOM CRONK

Harvey's Sporting Goods eeked out a 4-3 victory over Hotel Sidney Friday evening to win the Sidney Men's Fastball playoffs three games to two following a wild sixth and seventh inning finish. Hotel had tied the series with a 10-4 win Wednesday.

In the final, Harvey's had a 2-1 lead by the fifth inning but ran into difficulty when pitcher Dick Michaud walked the first three batters to load the bases in the top of the sixth.

Fortunately for Harvey's, Al Cross struck out and in the resulting confusion, and haste by Hotel Sidney to score, Wayne Jones was caught off third for the second out. Michaud walked Wayne Hannan to load the bases again, but a ground ball straight back to the mound ended the inning.

Harvey's sixth was something different as Butch Davis led off with a walk and then scored on Gerry Spelay's fence clearing blast after two were out. Kevin Orr then singled and advanced to third on Don Brown's single, but the inning ended when Peter Zubersky grounded to second baseman Graham Faulkner.

Hotel's last chance was the seventh inning, when Randy Smith drew a lead-off walk and Kim Hayward reached first on an error by Harvey's third-baseman, Zubersky. Hayward was doubled off first when a line drive by Dale Douglas was snagged by Michaud.

Then Wayne Jones took an off balance swing and simply powered the ball off the top of the fence in left field. Harvey's Kevin Orr stood helpless as the ball caromed into the air and dropped out of the park for a homerun.

Hotel's final batter, Graham Faulkner, nearly tied the game with a towering fly ball to deep center field, backing Perry Ethier to within a few feet of the fence before the out was made and the game ended.

Both pitchers had their problems during the contest. Michaud only allowed three hits and struck out six batters but also walked six batters and hit one. Wayne Jones of Hotel allowed seven hits, five of which occurred in the sixth and seventh innings. He struck out four and walked only two.

Sidney Men's Fastball enjoyed a good season despite having only four teams participating. It is hoped the league will expand again next season but to what extent is as yet unknown.

The league will shortly be holding the wind-up banquet and award night. The annual Wayne

Bull Tournament will probably be the final on diamond event of the year.

Aylard proposes new development

A proposal by North Saanich farmer George Aylard to build 60 cluster residential units on approximately 75 acres has been referred to committee of the whole for full debate next Tuesday night.

Aylard, who has land commission approval for a different proposal which is similar to this one, discussed the plans with North Saanich committee A Monday night.

He will then have to seek approval of the land commission since the Brackenhurst Farm acreage is in the Agricultural Land Reserve.

Aylard told committee Monday that the total density would be about 60 units in cluster development style with a phasing of the project and a possibility of deeding some of the extensive green space to the municipality.

Aylard said the development has been proposed because of the rocky nature of the land.

"We are looking at not more than 15 per cent of the property to be developed," he said.

Committee chairman Alan Cornford said that exact figures of density, percentage coverage and size of phase one will have to be detailed before committee of the whole can study the proposal.

Lisa Crampton pony winner

High point winner for ponies in the Lower Vancouver Island Horse Club show on Aug. 15 was Lisa Crampton on Klee Wyck.

Debbie Campbell on Ginger Snap, previously reported to be the winner, finished second.

The club's October show at Fohlen Farms, which was announced for Oct. 2 and 3, has now been scheduled for a week later, Oct. 9 and 10.

COME TO THE FAIR...

Sept. 4, 5 & 6th

Saanichton is the home of the annual Saanich Fair, the oldest agricultural exhibition west of the Great Lakes.

First sponsored in 1868 by the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, the Saanich Fair has grown to become one of the most sophisticated agricultural events in the country. And it's still sponsored by the original society.

The North and South Saanich Agricultural Society was formed to further the interests of agriculture and the Saanich Fair attracts some of Canada's most prized animals. It has what many consider the finest flower and vegetable show on the west coast and this year the needle arts and crafts entries are expected to be more plentiful than ever in its 114-year history.

The first four Saanich Fairs were held on different farms around the Peninsula and in 1872 it was held for the first time at its present location on East Saanich Road in the heart of Saanichton.

Henry Simpson, the pioneer who built the Prairie Inn, donated the land for the fair and an agricultural hall was erected in 1875.

During Saanich Fair's formative years the steamship Maude would make a special trip to carry passengers to the fair. Leaving Victoria at 9:30 a.m., the steamer would land two hours later at a wharf near Saanichton Bay. In later years the Victoria and Sidney Railway brought people to the fair.

Most people nowadays arrive by car but some will show up on horseback this year or in the seat of a horse-drawn carriage.

The fair is serious business for Canadian farmers who compete for top awards with everything from pigs and poultry to cattle and horses. Home baking and various country-type creations will be displayed and sold and horse shows, pouching matches, dancing and music will be featured throughout the three days of festivities.

Although none of the original society members are around today, there are a number of peninsula oldtimers who've spent a lifetime watching the changes in Saanichton.

Houses now line East Saanich Road and many of the original farms have been subdivided and developed for residential and commercial use.

Downtown Saanichton now has a small shopping plaza with a bank, restaurant, grocery store and a few other small businesses and the old fire and police station has been moved up the road.

There's a new hospital on Mount Newton Crossroad, the Waddling Dog Inn at the corner of Mount Newton and Patricia Bay Highway, and further along East Saanich Road is a new public recreation centre with an ice rink and swimming pool.

South of Saanichton is Keating Industrial Park where local builders, handymen and farmers can buy nearly all they need, avoiding a trip to Victoria.

But there's still a bit of country in the air at Saanichton — you'll feel it at the Saanich Fair.

Getting ready for the show.

Highland dancing — always a popular event.

Aquatiel Pet Shop

Situated in the Beacon Plaza Mall, the Aquatiel Pet Shop carries a full line of pet needs including the pets themselves — tropical fish, birds and small animals.

Animal and bird feed, aquariums, chewy things for pets large and small, grooming aids, vitamins and even life jackets for dogs are only a few of the items carried.

There are full grooming facilities on the premises with certified groomer Norma Wood giving personal attention to your pet.

Owner-manager Margo Banks stocks a good selection of tropical fish, from goldfish to angels and even has a magnificent Pacu (relative of the piranha, but a vegetarian species).

Birds include Macaws, finches, budgies, parrots, canaries and love birds. Margo provides a follow-up service with assistance and advice on setting up your aquarium or starting out with a new bird or animal.

Sidney's only pet shop also carries a full complement of books and can special order almost any item requested. They now carry "Iams" a top line U.S. dog food recently introduced to Canada.

"Personal attention in your pet's health and happiness is our main concern," says Margo, who's spare time is spent with her dogs and the North Saanich obedience training club.

Come in and say "hi" to LORO the swinging Macaw and talk over your pet needs with Margo or her assistant manager Laurie King.

People have been driving to Sidney from Victoria to buy their bread at Sidney Bakery for more than 20 years and that's why owner Don Hay bakes more than 10,000 loaves of bread each week! In fact Sidney Bakery bread travels all over the Peninsula to grocery stores, and hotels.

But locals know that there's more than good bread alone at 2507 Beacon Avenue. In fact the selection is so vast it's almost hard to choose which of the seven types of squares to buy, or whether to take home meat pies, sausage rolls, cheese bread or maybe some cheese tea biscuits.

It's not an uncommon sight at the bottom end of Beacon to see locals and tourists alike strolling down the road each with a huge bag of glazed do-nuts under one arm and biting on one at the same time.

Wedding and birthday cakes are also available, some ready made or, as some people prefer made to order, come in and see what they've got.

Don and his wife Roberta are active in Sidney with the sponsorship of many youth sports groups and the 12 staff members are ready to serve you seven days a week from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Senior Citizens take note — you are eligible for a 10% discount anytime at Sidney Bakery.

SEA CHEST SAILING SHOP

The Sea Chest Sailing Shop can be found just round the corner of Bevan Ave. at 9732 First Street and has one of the best all-round selections of sailing and boating gear.

The recently-expanded premises now provide ample room to handle the vast array of boating requirements including one complete room of clothing, footwear, etc. fair weather or foul.

This ship chandlery carries just about anything the boater could want — floater coats and life-jackets, ropes, charts, spinnaker poles, teak fittings and mooring snubbers and a variety of electronic equipment. A good selection of yachting books, cosy Scottish sweaters, compasses, anchors, crab traps, flags and much more.

Owners Doris and Roger Anstey take this opportunity to introduce their new partner Peter Young — Peter, an avid sailer, brings with him a practical knowledge of the chandlery business and invites you to come round and say hello.

Peter points out that the shop is a practical one without a lot of decorative boating gear (although there are some beautiful brass lamps in evidence).

Other staff and family members you will find here are Dennis, Ashby, Linda and Sarah.

Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday — come on down and browse around — no obligation at all.

Felicia's Boutique

Right in the centre of town, right on Beacon Avenue, right in style with the latest fashions, you will find Felicia's Boutique at number 2451.

With all these "rights" you can't go wrong when you step inside this bright and cheerful ladies' wear store with everything so well laid out and the friendly owners Marly Bailey and Yvonne Fleming so helpful in assisting you choose that new dress, blouse or skirt.

With sizes from 5 to 20, some of the famous names you will find here are Paris Star, Alia, Tanjay, Newport sportswear, Diamond Tea dressing gowns, French Maid lingerie and much more (not to forget the Joseph Ribkoff dresses).

The fall stock is arriving daily and is out on display and RIGHT NOW the Summer Sale is still in progress — so come in SOON, meet Yvonne and Marly and see what they have for you.

Store hours are Monday through Saturday from 9:30 to 5:00 p.m. and you'll find ample parking right on Beacon.

Sidney Bargain House

Sidney Bargain House, 2372 Beacon Avenue, is more like a museum than a store — offering a beautiful selection of antique furniture, jewellery and collectibles as well as friendly old-fashioned service.

Owners and operators for over four years now, Grant and Marilyn Erickson have built up an enviable selection of items and are always more than happy to look at anything you would like to sell and always seem to be able to find what you are looking for. If they don't have it, they will do their best to find it for you.

Everything from mounted animal heads, wood stoves, china, old tools, kitchenware and in a recently renovated room at the front, an impressive collection of brass and gifts from door-knockers and bath fixtures to Oriental wares and music boxes.

It's the kind of place you should be prepared to spend much time in to examine all the items, and don't be afraid to ask "What is it?"

Favourites with the children are the penny arcade machine and collection of stuffed animals, but everyone finds something entertaining here, so drop in between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. weekdays or from 10:00 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Joan has blue ribbon business

By JUNE GREEN

She has promised to make us a bunch of blue ribbons. In time for the Saanich Fall Fair.

Her name is Joan Cunningham, of Victoria Ribbon Craft in Brentwood, where she has been owner-operator of this small business for the past five years. The business was started by Wilf Hughes of Victoria twelve years ago, as a hobby, and after operating the business for seven years, he taught the craft to Joan, who has been making award ribbons for conventions, dog and cat shows, sports events and fall fairs since she purchased the business five years ago.

This is the first year that the ribbons for the fair have been made locally. They are all hand done. Joan designs them herself, keeping to the traditional blue for first place, red for second place and white for third, for some classes and competitions, but using a great variety of colors for some of the other classifications.

The ribbons are printed with a Kensol heat press, using foil which comes from Germany. Her husband and a friend rigged up an air compressor and automated the printing machine so larger runs can be done quickly, but most orders for prize ribbons are for small quantities of each kind. She uses hand set type.

Tops of the rosettes are put together individually. Saanich uses a pleated ribbon effect with a button in the center covered with acetate ribbon. There will be over 500 rosettes needed for the Saanich Fair, with thousands of plain printed ribbons needed as well.

Joan said the ribbon business keeps her busy full time in the spring and summer, but in winter it's just part-time.

Discovery program summer fun

Fifty youngsters aged seven to 13 have had a month of "day camp" activities this summer, including several days of real camping, under the Boys and Girls Club "Discovery" program in Central Saanich.

Funded mainly by the federal government, the program has operated in two sessions, in July and August, and this week a lucky 15 from Central Saanich, the Western Communities and Victoria are joining with the leaders in a week's backpacking trip in Garibaldi Park.

Those on the trip, all nine or older, were chosen by the leaders for their outstanding work during the regular sessions.

The program has been operating for four years. It qualifies for a federal grant designed to provide employment for post-secondary students who act as leaders, a safe environment and opportunity for youngsters to experience day camp, and a service to working parents.

Funding covers salaries and some operating costs, but there is also an $80 fee for the month. The program runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday to Friday.

Activities have included such things as horseback riding, kite making and flying, archery, swimming, mini-golf, canoeing, fly tying and three days camping in lean-tos and tents on Salispring Island.

Jeannette Byleveld and Dave Ravenhill were leaders of the Central Saanich program this year, assisted by four volunteers. Kim Peterson was project manager.

Seven-year-old Andrea Spittle learns the ancient art of fly-tying, with help from Discovery '82 volunteer leader David England.

Blind angler lands second derby winner

"Once in a lifetime!"

That's what Robert Brumpton, 7787 Wallace Drive, Saanichton, told The Review last year when he won the title of Blind Fisherman of the Year with a 36-pound salmon — but he was wrong.

This year he caught a 38-pounder.

Both fish were caught in Pedder Bay, in June, during the derby for visually-handicapped fishermen put on by the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association and the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

His 1981 fish also won Brumpton the title of Pedder Bay angler of the year, and besides being the winning fish in that derby was the largest caught in any derby for visually-handicapped fisherman during the year.

A number of organizations put on such derbies, including the Capital City Yacht Club at Sidney.

With his 1982 fish, Brumpton is again the provincial champion. He was trolling with frozen anchovy on a 20-lb. test line, and the monster gave him a terrific fight, which lasted an hour and a half. Hooked near the trap shack, the fish ran 2½ miles, and at one point seemed likely to get away in the kelp.

Using a supple rod and a star-drag reel, Brumpton was "pooped out" by the time the fish was boated, and had to take things easy for a couple of days afterwards.

Last year's experience was quite different, as he had a steel line and was able to keep much more pressure on the fish.

Brumpton goes fishing whenever anyone will take him, but had never caught a big salmon before last summer. He estimates he was out only a half dozen times that year and only three times so far in 1982.

Robert Brumpton with his 1982 winner, 38 lbs., 4 oz. He was fishing with Victoria Fish and Game members Eric Eckdahl, holding fish, and Brian Walmsley, centre.

Ontario sailors cadet champions

Sea cadet crews from Ontario took first and third places in an eight-race national championship series in Albacore dinghies sailed at Patricia Bay last weekend. A crew from the Prairie region was second.

The Sidney cadets did not qualify for the regatta, and the best that a B.C. crew could do was a ninth place finish by Colwood.

Grieves enjoy European trip

Mr. and Mrs. John Grieve enjoyed a eight-day trip at the beginning of August to Amsterdam, up the Rhine, through Switzerland and back by way of New York.

Grieve won the trip courtesy of John Deere Ltd. as one of their top dealers in North America.

So what do you do when rates go down

High interest rates have been a way of life for the past year. We have been accustomed to them, even complacent about them. However, there is now a possibility that we may have to adjust to rates several points below the astronomical figures of the past year.

If you have been buying preferred shares — particularly retractable preferreds — you do not need to do anything. Not only will you be receiving a high dividend yield, but you should already have seen a capital gain. To protect your capital gain, you might be prepared to move out of the preferreds if interest rates begin to rise again.

But what about the money that has been rolled over in term deposits and treasury bills at most acceptable rates of 14 per cent and 15 per cent; they are now going to be yielding around 13 per cent or lower and perhaps there are better alternatives.

The phenomenal rise in the U.S. indices and the record volumes on the New York exchange are attributable primarily to the drastic reduction in U.S. interest rates. Money managers and individual investors realized that common stocks were relatively cheap and rushed into buy at what were perceived as bargain prices.

Nevertheless, if this is the signal of a turnaround in the economy (and the stock market is considered to be one of the leading indicators), it is time to buy quality stocks with good earnings prospects, strong balance sheets and good management. The consumer stocks should be timely buys: grocery chains, clothing stores, merchandising companies and trucking firms. It is probably a little early to buy mining companies and possibly premature to buy oil companies, particularly junior oils.

Caution is still the order of the day, but if a bull market has commenced then a larger amount of funds available for investment should be committed to the market. U.S. stocks probably have the best prospects for growth and Canadian convertible preferreds for income and growth.

Boat owners warned

Sidney RCMP have had several reports recently of theft of outboard motors and fuel tanks from boats moored at the government wharf at the foot of Beacon Ave. Boaters are warned that they should lock motors and tanks inside.

Sometime last week a 12-foot aluminum boat with a six-horsepower Evinrude motor was stolen from Bosun's Marina. Total value is about $1,000.

Emergency generator savings seem unlikely

Prospects for saving anything on the $45,000 quotations for a portable emergency power generator for Central Saanich don't look too bright according to a letter from the Capital Regional District engineering department.

Council members had suggested getting a used generator and putting it on a trailer instead of a used truck, but they were told that because the unit has to be able to put out 230 volts for the Brentwood sewer pumping station and 460 volts for the Hagan pumping station it is unlikely that a suitable second hand unit can be found.

Also, the generator will weigh more than three tons, and a new trailer to carry it is quoted at $6,700, which is more than the $5,000 estimated for the used truck.

Council is also faced with the problem of providing air conditioning for the emergency communications center. The Central Saanich Police Association has complained about heat buildup since the center was opened in 1979, and is now threatening job action or a complaint to the Workers Compensation Board if nothing is done.

Police Chief Bob Miles told council in a letter that a window unit would be too noisy, and a water-cooled unit would cost over $3,000. He had asked that $5,000 be budgeted this year, but council cut the amount to $600.

Miles said that the center is manned 24 hours a day, and that an expensive air conditioning unit has been installed for another section of the building that is used on the average only six hours a week.

Council received a staff report regarding a Saanich Greenbelt Society proposal for subsidized water rates for farm irrigation.

Nine escape safely as motor home burns

A family of seven adults and two children from Boseman, Montana, got out of their rented motorhome just as it burst into flames at McTavish road and the Pat Bay Highway shortly before 3 p.m. Saturday.

Police say Bill Sybrant, who was driving, smelled gas and pulled off to the north side of McTavish, just west of the highway, to check the vehicle. As everyone got out flames started to appear, and they were soon shooting so high they burned through electrical wires overhead.

Sidney volunteer firemen took three trucks to the scene. They doused the blaze in the body of the vehicle with hoses but could not put out flames that kept shooting from under the engine compartment as soon as the water was directed elsewhere. The fire was eventually put out with a chemical extinguisher.

The vehicle was totally gutted. Traffic to and from the airport and on McTavish Road was halted for a considerable time, but highway traffic was able to get through.

George Kurbatoff

The intent of this article is not to imply perfection in any sense of the word but rather to possibly impart an awareness in an area in which many couples can achieve a greater understanding within themselves.

Most people recognize their need for others and also recognize that their need for others should in no way make the implication that they themselves be less than they are, but rather reflects the vast potentiality that lies within themselves through sharing with others.

Love and intimacy are both challenged, not threatened by the differences in the individuals. When two separate individuals decide to form an intimate relationship they are uniting two different worlds and subsequently bring into the relationship not only some commonalities but also a vast amount of differences. It is these very differences that propel and generate growth in the relationship.

The depth of these relationships can usually be measured by the degree of willingness of both partners to share themselves with the other.

The only valid expectation that lies in love is that those we love will become themselves as we do also. Love given out of a sense of duty or obligation is not love at all but an insult to the relationship.

Mature intimacy involves the physical and therefore requires that each individual in the relationship come first to grips with his or her own sexuality. We must feel comfortable with ourselves before we can risk revealing our sexuality with others honestly and freely.

This does not imply that we become overtly sexual with everyone we fall in love with but rather than sexual gratification may be satisfied by merely being in the same place with another, holding our child, or deeply sharing with a friend.

There is perhaps no more satisfying action of which the human is capable than that which is achieved through physical intimacy. Here in its highest form lies a deep desire to totally merge with another human being combining all of its positive aspects — giving, caring, sharing, nurturing, accepting, yielding and assuming.

Physical mutuality, when it is an expression of real love can be the ultimate human unity.

It is the lover's responsibility to reach out and touch the heart of the partner. Love and intimacy require total compassion for the other and unless we are able to feel with the other, we are unable to love.

(Use things, but love people)

COURT REPORT

Four people were fined in Sidney Provincial Court on Thursday for impaired driving.

Raymond Charles Inkster, 603 Polyanthus Cres., Victoria, was fined $250 and Cindy Ann Jontz, 9620 Glenelg, Sidney, and John Joseph Spence, CFB, Esquimalt, were each fined $300. All three pleaded guilty.

Robert George Elliott, 7562 West Saanich Rd., who was found guilty, was also fined $300. On Tuesday Mark Hinson, 2401 Keating Cross Road, was given a suspended sentence and six months probation on four counts of passing bad cheques.

Preliminary hearing of attempted murder and assault charges against Wallace Johnston Graham, 41, a cook on the Pandora II, began on Thursday and was adjourned for continuation on Tuesday. The court has ordered a ban on reporting of the testimony.

"SUNBURNED OR S-O-N TURNED"

Most vacationers become, at least temporarily, "Sun-Worshippers." They covet the glow and the tan that results from exposure to the sun in the great out-of-doors.

It's fun to get out in the sun; but there is also danger in getting too much sun. Anyone sunburned knows the results — burning pain, headache, nausea, blisters, and peeling of skin. Too much sun can cause skin infections and even damage to internal organs of the body. So, instead of having "fun in the sun," some people become "done in the sun."

Sunburned is one thing, but to be "S-O-N turned" is still another. The sun is like a magnet that pulls life to itself. It creates growth. There is another kind of light for all seasons. This Light is spelled "S-O-N." The Bible calls Jesus Christ, "the Sun of Righteousness" (Mal. 4:2) and "the Light of the world" (John 8:12). He is God's Son who was born to dispel the darkness of sin and to draw us to God. He creates new life with God. He warms the soul of a person. And He causes one to grow Godward. To be "S-O-N turned" in Jesus is to have life now and forever with God. But the continual life in Christ, like any summer tan, can soon fade and be lost in time unless it is renewed and refreshed daily.

An eclipse of our natural sun used to terrify the ancients. A week at the lake without sun is sheer agony. But any day or week without the Son of God in our life can be eternally detrimental and fatal.

That's why we need to take time every day for exposure to the Son of God. Take a plunge into His Word! Breathe in the freshness of His forgiveness! Feel the invigorating power of His Spirit! Sense the excitement and the challenge as you learn to serve Him by serving others. Return from your summer vacation, not only with a healthy sun tan, but with the beautiful glow of the S-O-N of God. He can make your whole life rich with the treasures of God's love.

"For the Lord God is a sun and shield; He bestows favor and honor. No good thing does the Lord withhold from those who walk upright- (Psalm 84:11)

—Rev. Dennis J. Paap

Why do people request volunteer driver service from the Peninsula Community Association? Doctor's appointments, trips to the hospital to visit someone near and dear — these are two of the reasons people call 656-0134 asking for help. Usually these people are elderly and alone, but the one criteria for requesting a volunteer is NEED — and this can happen to anyone!

Until now it has always been possible to fill all legitimate requests but at present the driver force has diminished alarmingly. Perhaps now that the summer visitors have come and gone, and the children are almost ready to get back to school routine, YOU could consider joining the dedicated drivers who have kept the requests filled all summer. Why not start with a drive a week?

Try it — you may find, like the other drivers, that you will meet wonderful, proud, and needy people right in your own area. Their appreciation will leave you with a very good feeling of having done something really worthwhile with those few spare hours which you fritter away each week.

The benefits are great, the people you meet and work with, the very best, and the Association does pay gasoline expenses so that this form of volunteering is not a financial burden on the family.

Won't you please call 656-0134 and offer your services?

If you don't drive but would like to help the Peninsula Community Association and its various programs, (such as driving) you could be a great help in the washing and repair of worthwhile items donated to the Peninsula Old and New Shop. A call to 656-3511 will put you in touch with another band of great volunteers who have a lot of fun while helping others.

Fall items are coming in nicely and the 'Back to School' window is featuring some beautiful children's clothing at a very reasonable price. What a chance for Mom to save and there's hardly a child who isn't thrilled with a new shirt or sweater — who cares that it was worn a few times if it's washed, clean, and comfortable?

Don't forget the Handy Dart meeting at Resthaven Lodge on Thursday September 9th from 7 to 9. This is our chance to make this service work by letting the authorities know how often? what for? and where to?

By HELEN LANG

Spent a thoroughly interesting afternoon this week with a B.C. Department of Agriculture horticulturist, and he showed me the way things should really look in the home vegetable garden. His name is Dick Keepence, and he certainly knows his onions . . . and his potatoes, and his corn, and his tomatoes etc.!

The B.C. Department has about twenty varieties of tomatoes all being grown under identical conditions . . . the same soil, the same amount of fertilizer, the same quantity of water, and it was fascinating to me to see how uniform they appeared. Some of them started ripening from the bottom, and some of them ripened more or less all at once, but all but one type had almost perfect pollination.

The odd-one-out was that old favorite "Beefsteak", and it had a whole list of problems . . . it just doesn't seem to do as well in our coastal climate. Dick's favorite variety is one called "Moneymaker", a medium-sized tomato with a delightful flavour.

Another comment of his that amused me was that "all the 'girls' (i.e. "Early Girl", and "Ultra Girl") were doing really well". With difficulty I refrained from saying, "Naturally!"

I will go into this more fully next spring when we are once again contemplating growing tomatoes, but just let me tell you a couple of things now that really amazed me. First at the Agricultural Station they only feed tomatoes once a year (on May 1st) using 13-16-10, and plant their tomato seedlings out June 1st.

The second shocker was that they water only once every fourteen days, but at that time the hose is left running until the ground is completely soaked to a depth of a foot . . . my guess is that that would take a good eight hours.

Still talking about tomatoes, saw a sad sight in Nanaimo this past week . . . tomatoes with fusarium wilt . . . something (crossed fingers before saying this) we personally have never experienced. These tomatoes were fully grown with lots of ripening fruit, but looked as though they were suffering from lack of water. The fruit is sort of shrunken and slightly wrinkled, and the leaves wilting and turning brown at the tips. Fortunately this family had planted another variety of tomato which was resistant to this fungus disease, so they won't be completely without pickles this winter.

Some of the so-called "wilts" have strange and interesting names . . . there is "aster wilt" and, "cabbage yellows" and the Tongue twister "Verticillium wilt" . . . may Heaven protect us from each and every one!

More on the neat things learned at the Agricultural station next week.

Meanwhile, yes, we caught the rat! It was no monster after all, just quite a cute looking rather small black rat (with a giant appetite). Since talking about "our" rat we have learned all sorts of ways to get rid of these pests . . . and the method that seems most logical is to spread peanut butter on the bait thing-a-ma-jig . . . that way the rat has to lick it off, rather than being able to snatch the cheese and run. Thank you Mrs. Stevenson.

Now a couple of what I hope will be timely hints.

Time to seek out your garden centre with an eye to planting spring flowering bulbs. Its not too early to put them in since almost immediately they start to manufacture strong roots, however, most of us are by no means ready yet to part with our fall flowers.

If you want a really good selection to choose from, this is the time to have a look, and make some plans for a spring garden. It nearly kills me to think that fall is almost upon us, but I'm afraid we are in for it very soon, ready or not.

Do take a look under the leaves of your squashes. I have just finished giving the Hubbard leaves a good bath to kill the black aphids that are there in their thousands. (Why me, God? Why me!) I think it all started with a host of volunteer nasturtiums (that I hadn't the heart to yank out) because they have been covered in black aphids on and off all summer. Oh, dear! Fortunately the Zucchini and the bush acorn squashes are still pest-free, bless their dear productive hearts!

Tom Cornell (one of Sidney's most successful gardeners) has none of those frolicking white moths laying eggs on his winter vegetables this year. He bought a pound of moth balls, and scattered them around. The moths are offended by the smell, and pass his garden by.

Jodi Donaldson, 7, happily posed amid massive arrangement of flowers at Sanscha Hall during Sidney and Saanich Peninsula Garden Club competition and show, last week.

College opens new division

Camosun College, business division, is opening a new campus in Sidney, at 9751 Third Street, to offer courses in office administration — typing, English, office practice, and business arithmetic.

These courses are designed both for students who are beginners in these practical skills and those who desire upgrading. A "C" standing in Grade 9 English is the basic requirement for acceptance.

Students wishing to continue their training in the certificate course in office administration may transfer to the Carey Road Campus. Credit will be given for courses in which a passing standing has been achieved at Sidney.

There are four starting dates: September 13 and November 1, 1982, and January 3 and February 28, 1983.

The program is self-paced and the completion date varies for individual students.

Tuition fees are $40.00 a month, and text books and supplies are approximately $60.00.

For registration or for further information, contact Camosun College admission/registration office, 1950 Landowne Road, Victoria, B.C., V8P 5J2 Telephone 592-1281.

Air Museum gets Harvard

The Victoria Museums Association, (formerly known as the North American Interplanetary Society), has acquired a North American Harvard Mk IV aircraft for its Canadian Military Aircraft Museum on Mills Road.

The Harvard was a basic flight trainer for the Royal Canadian Air Force during World War II and it remained in service with the RCAF until 1967. It is a licence-built version of the American AT-6 Texan.

Over fifteen thousand Harvard/Texan aircraft were built around the world under different licensing programs. Besides the United States, Canada, Australia, Sweden, and others manufactured this aircraft. About 1500 aircraft were built in Canada, with the last one coming off the production line in 1952, ten years after entering service with the RCAF.

The aircraft acquired by the museum was built as a N.A. Harvard Mk IV, airframe #165, by Canadian Car and Foundry Ltd., in Montreal Quebec, in 1952. The aircraft was taken on strength by the RCAF on August 19, 1952 and subsequently assigned serial #20374.

The aircraft served the RCAF for many years as a basic pilot trainer. While based at RCAF Station Penhold, Alberta, the aircraft suffered a Category B accident (serious but repairable damage) on Sept. 6, 1955. After repair the aircraft continued to serve without incident until being struck off strength on Sept. 19, 1961.

The aircraft was then sold to a private operator through the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation and registered at that time as CF-KCX. Information is sketchy from this point on but it is known that it was operated privately for several years until crashing in an aborted take off at Nanaimo airport on Aug. 21, 1966.

Considered unrecoverable at the time, it remained the target of vandals until pulled out of the bush by a Duncan resident in 1976. The aircraft was stored in Duncan until acquired recently by the museum.

While in generally good condition, the Harvard did suffer some considerable damage in its forced landing, and the museum is seeking replacement parts for sections of the airframe. Particularly needed are landing gear parts, tail pieces including the rudder and vertical/horizontal stabilizers, and cockpit canopy.

There are no plans to restore the aircraft to flying condition, but it will be restored to static display in its original RCAF colours and number (20374). It joins a growing collection of aircraft and memorabilia destined for a museum to be built at Victoria's airport.

In addition to the Harvard, the museum also acquired a variety of minor bits and pieces, some in disrepair, that had been recovered from aircraft wrecks on southern Vancouver Island. These include parts from a Republic Seabee, Westland Lysander, Bristol Bolingbroke, Consolidated B-24 Liberator, DeHavilland Chipmunk, and Curtiss P-40 Kittyhawk.

Four aircraft engines were also recovered, although these are suitable for static display only. They are two Allison V-1710 12-cylinder in-line engines, one Alvis Leonides 9-cylinder radial engine, and a partially complete Fairchild Ranger engine.

The Victoria Museums Association is a non-profit charitable museum society and is seeking donations and supporters for its museum projects. Interested parties may contact (604) 382-4191 for more information or write: Victoria Museums Association, 150 Montreal Street, Victoria, B.C. V8V 1Y8.

Four local entries in classic boat show

The Sidney area has only four advance entries in the Classic Boat Festival at Victoria this weekend, but it is contributing three of the judges. They are Bent Jespersen, Hugh Campbell and Peter London.

Besides Denis Paquette's Danae, which won the "best overall, power" award last year, local entries are Jim Blohm's 1942 Chris-Craft inboard runabout, Irv. Cormack's motor vessel Hukakai, which acts as the press boat, and Peter Sergeant's Kennett II. Registration go on Friday and Saturday.

The boats are on display at the floats in front of the Empress Hotel. Visitors are invited to tour the 101-foot, gaff-rigged Crownshield schooner Adventuress on Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

At 5 p.m. Friday, there will be open house on the HMCS Oriole, followed by a narrated slide show of previous festivals, at sunset, with the slides projected on Astrocyte's mainsail.

On Saturday there will be open house on the Oriole from noon to 8 p.m., and a rowing race in the Inner Harbour at 4 p.m.

Sunday morning the sailpast will be held off Ogden Point breakwater, with castoff time at 10:30 and sailpast at 11. Open house on the Oriole will be from 2 to 8 p.m.

Other activities include informal dockside entertainment on Jim Saull's Chloe, at the foot of the gangplank, and a boat songs concert by Herman Bergin, provincial carillonneur, from 8:30 to 9:15 a.m. on Sunday.

One way not to steal a safe

There is probably more than one way to steal a safe, but a good way not to do it is to push it down the street, even at five o'clock in the morning. It makes too much noise.

Burglars who entered through the rear door of Queen's Payless at Resthaven and Malview early last Wednesday morning found they couldn't lift the safe — not surprisingly, since Sidney RCMP had to get a tow truck when it came their turn to move it.

Instead of giving up, the burglars pushed the safe along the street, presumably using a vehicle, at least when going uphill. They had moved it about two blocks, onto Pleasant St. near Amherst Ave., before they were interrupted by police, who had been alerted by residents disturbed when the safe trundled by.

The burglars in that time had the safe tucked in at the curb behind their car. They made their escape into nearby bush, then fled in their vehicle after the police drove on by, looking for a safe out in the road — all this being observed from nearby houses.

Three other burglaries during the week were equally unproductive, although presumably not as much work. On the night of Aug. 26-27 someone broke in through a rear window of Downtown Sidney Auto Sales on Beacon Ave., but took nothing.

Two nights later, at 2 a.m., police found a glass door broken at Robinson Stores, in Beacon Plaza. A small amount of money had been taken.

Someone entered the office at Sandown racetrack early in the morning of Aug. 23 through a side window, but nothing was taken.

CHAROLAIS — for Cross Breeding or Purebreds

Since its introduction to Canada in 1967, the Charolais breed has firmly established itself in this country's cattle industry as a superior beef producer. Of French origin, the Charolais has been selected and bred in France since the fourteenth century for its lean meat producing ability. The breed made its appearance in the Western Hemisphere as early as 1879, but didn't really impact the North American cattle industry until 1930, when a group of Charolais were imported from Mexico. All North American Charolais descended from these animals until Canada imported her own Charolais from France in 1967.

Canadian Charolais are rooted in the commercial cattle scene. Wayne Malmberg, a commercial rancher, brought the first Charolais crosses to Canada from Texas in 1953. He didn't agree with the trend of the day towards blocky, compact cattle, and believed the cattle industry should orient itself more towards red meat production.

Other innovative cattle producers recognized the merits of Charolais and joined to form the Canadian Charolais Association in 1959. From that group of entrepreneurs has grown a breed that has made unparalleled contributions to the Canadian cattle industry.

Stockmen are especially impressed by the Charolais' ability to cross well with other breeds. Charolais bulls, used in crossbreeding programs with British-based cows, produce fast growing, efficient gaining calves weaning 50 to 100 pounds heavier than traditional straightbreds. The identifiable color of the "Char-cross" calves allows feeder buyers to confidently pay premiums on these calves, secure in the knowledge that they are buying Charolais quality. Calves reach market weight at 12 to 14 months and yield more marketable beef than the traditional straightbred.

Producers are unanimous in their praise for Charolais and Char-cross animals. Lloyd Wambeck, a partner in the Diamond V ranch in the Charolais.

The Hereford-Charolais cross is also popular with packer buyers, says Wambeck. The crossbred calves are in high demand because of their high yield and choice carcass under today's beef grading system.

The breed is getting better all the time, says Wambeck. "There has been a big change in Charolais since 1967. Then there were only a few bulls to choose from. Often all that them now and the building muscled bulls have disappeared. Charolais bulls are more middle of the road. A commercial man today can go to sales and find a greater percentage of bulls that would satisfy him, they're smoother shouldered with better feet and legs; the kind of things a commercial man is looking for." Perrin, who has done extensive comparisons to determine which breeds are best for carcass quality and market acceptance, adds, "None of the other breeds stood up to a Charolais, so we're using Charolais for the pounds of beef production."

Harry Webster, who runs 250 head of commercial Charolais cows near Coronation, Alberta, sees no reason to change to another breed. "I first used Charolais in 1958. I wasn't too fussy about the other breeds that were around at the time. Charolais looked like it was bigger and better — a better grade of beef. My calves have always topped the market at the fall sales. The bulls today are better because they've been upgraded, they have higher rates of gain and are easier calving."

It is apparent from the preceding remarks that Charolais are highly thought of in the Canadian cattle industry. It has now become firmly established by government controlled tests that Charolais cross calves are superior in the end dollar return to either straight domestic breeds or any other type of cross. Now that easy calving strains have been developed and identified there remains nothing to deter any prospective breeder. Ask your shipper or anyone who has tried it — or their bankers!

foothills southwest of Calgary. (Diamond V bought part of the historical Bar U Ranch in 1975), says "Since beef is sold by the pound we cross-breed for hybrid vigor. Simplicity is so essential in any venture so we've limited ourselves to two breeds, Charolais and Hereford... Based on past experience in the feedlot, our number one choice for a feeder animal is half Hereford and half was available, was the heavy shouldered, thick muscular type of bull that gave you calving problems. Now you have the selection and you can choose the longer, leaner, trimmer type of bull that doesn't give those calving problems."

Ted Perrin of Beechy, Saskatchewan, agrees: "On the two ends of the scale there's been a lot of change. The lighter bulls have more bone in

Island Farms making yogurt

Yogurt produced on Vancouver Island is now commercially available from Island Farms Dairy, John Pendray, president of Island Farms Dairy Cooperative Association, has announced.

Yogurt was previously produced on Vancouver Island by Silverwood's Dairy, prior to its purchase by Island Farms in December, 1981. Island Farms has been amalgamating the two dairy operations with the construction of new facilities at 2220 Dowler Place in Victoria.

Velvet Ice Cream, a traditional Island favourite formerly produced by Northwestern Dairy, has now been restored by Island Farms.

The planning student suggested that lots where drainage is a problem could be eliminated from the plan and the area turned into park space.

He went on to say that the area around the Ministry of Transport beacon is a "unique location for flora and fauna" and that there should be consideration made for a look-out or park area.

Ald. Dick Herlinveaux noted that where roads are being cut through the steep terrain there could be problems with "weeping seepage all over the road."

Committee also discussed lineal park links, riding and hiking trails and will study the matter further at future meetings.

Cloake Hill Drainage Questioned

By GRANIA LITWIN

Cloake Hill may be an ideal residential area in a municipality like North Saanich where residents and council are seeking to preserve agricultural land.

But there are a number of major hurdles to be overcome before development in that area can take place in an effective and attractive way.

North Saanich committee looked at the results of a study by planning student Richard Brundrige Monday night and expressed high estimation of his work.

Brundrige found numerous faults with and limitations in the site plans presented to council recently by a variety of developers.

"We have a severe problem here with topography," he said, noting that at the summit of Cloake Hill (a height of 500 feet) there could be "extreme runoff" if proposed lots are constructed.

"The feasibility of building construction and seepage disposal at this density," was one of his main concerns.

The sedimentary bedrock and glacial till would "pretty well all precipitate run off," he said, adding that developers' plans do not include a method of water drainage.

Committee chairman Alan Cornford agreed, "the bottom line drainage patterns may be altered by development and have to be looked at very very carefully in terms of downstream effects."

Miss Purl's role fuels Fonz wedding rumors

Is "the Fonz" headed for the altar? Maybe. Because when "Happy Days" returns this month for its tenth season, the leather-jacketed Fonz (Henry Winkler) will have a new steady romantic interest.

Her name is Ashley Pfister and she'll be played by Linda Purl, who originally was seen in a few episodes as Richie Cunningham's (Ron Howard) girlfriend Gloria in 1974.

"Ashley is from a well-to-do Milwaukee family," explains Miss Purl. "Originally she met and married a greaser and her family disowned her. Then the greaser left her and their kid.

"She is a hard-working accountant, but she is a single parent living in the '60s. The last thing she wants in her life is another greaser, but somehow Fonzie wins her over with his charm," says Miss Purl.

Ashley's daughter will be played by "Poltergeist" star Heather O'Rourke. Miss Purl describes the youngster as a "normal little girl who comes in and gets to work, without being in awe of anyone."

As for the on-camera relationship between Fonzie and Ashley, Miss Purl downplays the possibility of eventual marriage. She points out, "Courtships are so much fun that we'll take it one step at a time. You'll also see that Fonzie loosens Ashley up a bit, too."

Although Miss Purl has made numerous TV movies including "Women at West Point," "Having Babies" and "The Manions of America," and had been a former member of the "Happy Days" cast, she says she wasn't a shoo-in for the role.

"That just wasn't the case," Miss Purl says. "This was not the same character that I did in 1974. I had to audition all over again. The producers wanted to see Fonzie have a mature relationship and many different actresses auditioned for the part."

"I've wanted to do a series for the last six months and this is a whole new arena for my talents."

FAR SHORE — Principal photography has been completed in Los Angeles on "The Far Shore," a CBS-TV movie about step-parenting that stars Linda Lavin, Tony LoBlanco and Tracey Gold. The film will air later this season. Alba Oms, Joyce Van Patten, Ron Rifkin, Doris Roberts and Jenny O'Hara co-star.

Stephen Collins

NEWEST NAME — The new ABC show patterned after "Raiders of the Lost Ark" has been given yet a third new name. Now the series is called "Tales of the Gold Monkey." Its original name was "Tales of the Brass Monkey," which was then changed to "The Golden Monkey." The series stars Stephen Collins as Jake Cutter, a dashing expatriate American flyer who is drawn into intrigue and adventure in the South Pacific in 1938.
